Ice Rink Possible
A public skating rink was discussed and action taken to make it a reality at a meeting of the Board of Trade on Dec. 5. The committee reported Capt. F. C. Tribou's field near his residence could be secured for a rink, provided it was left in good condition next spring. Approximately $200 was pledged in sums varying from $3 to $10. Many considered $300 should be in sight before starting the project. The rink committee: G. G. Morton, L. L. Mason and A. C. Maxim, was continued and authorized to investigate the feasibility and cost of undertaking.

Other matters considered, included suggestions for a banquet probably on January 5 with out of town speakers; a meeting in February devoted to school matters and the question of signals at the Grand Trunk crossings. This last was voted, if no satisfaction is obtained from the Grand Trunk before January first, petition should be made to the public utilities commission. President Geo. F. Eastman presided during the meeting. The members attended a chicken pie supper at the Universalist Church before the business session.

County Sheriff's Office Contested
A bill in equity has been filed at the office of the clerk of court of Oxford County, in the east William O. Frothingham of Paris, in equity, vs. Frank F. Woodside of Fryeburg, which contests the election to the office of sheriff of Oxford County, for which Mr. Woodside has received a certificate. Mr. Woodside was the Republican candidate, and Mr. Frothingham the Democratic candidate.

The bill first sets forth the facts of the election of last September, and the returns of the sheriff vote made by the clerks of the several towns and plantations to the governor and council, which show a total of 5002 votes for Woodside, 4990 for Frothingham and 2 scattering. A certificate of election has, in accordance with these returns, been issued by the governor and council to Mr. Woodside.

The bill then represents that certain votes which should have been counted for Mr. Frothingham were not so counted, and that certain ballots were counted for Mr. Woodside which should not have been so counted. The bill states the number as alleged in each of the towns and plantations which were so counted or not counted. In summary it alleges the number of legal ballots cast for sheriff in Oxford County not 1994 as shown by the town clerks' returns, but 10,044, divided thus: Woodside 4997; Frothingham 5075; scattering 372. Therefore, the bill requests such orders of court as shall enable the petitioner to enter upon the performance of the duties of the office.

A hearing has been ordered by Chief Justice Leslie C. Cornish, at Augusta, on Friday, the 29th day of December, at 10 A. M. The hearing will be before Chief Justice Cornish.

Judge Matthew McCarthy of Rumford is counsel for Mr. Frothingham. Hugh W. Hastings of Fryeburg represents Mr. Woodside at the inspection of the ballots soon after the election, and it is understood that Frederick R. Dyer will be associated with him in the equity suit.

Community Christmas

The community Christmas observance will take place Tuesday evening, December 19 at the Grange Hall. With this arrangement the committee will have ample time to sort the gifts and have them ready for distribution on Christmas Day. An interesting entertainment will be given including a pageant by the eighth grade pupils and carol singing by several grades. At this time also every organization is asked to bring their contributions and all donations will be received at this time. If any person is unable to carry their contribution on that evening arrangements have been made to have the Legion Hall open during the day for such donations and they can be left there and the Boy Scouts will have them at Grange Hall to be reported.

A Christmas Tree will be a pleasing feature and on this night the tree will receive the gifts instead of distributing them, carrying out the Christmas idea of giving and not receiving. Everyone is invited to Grange Hall on the 19th.
A meeting was held at Community Hall Tuesday evening to make final arrangements. Chairman T. C. Chapman called to order and Rev. O. E. Barnard led in prayer. Mrs. Jennie Bates Russell gave a report of the survey that has been made in the village during the interim since the last meeting and finds in addition to clothing of various kinds many families are in need of vegetables and farm produce in carrying them through the winter. Books and toys are acceptable for there are plenty of children there and in hearty endorsing the movement donated forty dollars from the Carroll Johnson Co. to help in the good work. Reports were received from several churches and lodges. The Boy Scouts offered their services for anything in their power to do to assist and they will be on hand Tuesday evening to help gather the gifts and donations and will distribute them on Christmas Day. The committee for the entertainment included Mrs. Harriet C. Brown, Mrs. Edith L. Bartlett, Mrs. Esther Skelton, Mrs. Mary McLaughlin and Rev. O. E. Barnard.

Mysterious Duval Brothers

Magic and mystery was on the program at Norway Opera House Wednesday evening during the weird performances of the Duval Brothers in the American Legion course of entertainments.
Playing cards were picked from the air, flowers changed colors at word of command, eggs disappeared in a mystifying way, and confetti cooked over a fire in a twinkling. The Duval Brothers, who were young, had all but ruined his valuable gold watch when trusting the time piece to the careless magician. In spite of alleged hard usage, the watch was made whole and returned unharmed to the owner. Magic rings did wonderful stunts and handkerchiefs of various colors easily developed from the white variety. Several clever card tricks new to the local public were shown. A good line of witty "chatter" bowed along with the magic.

Pictures were a novelty and the pair of artists displayed great skill in forming winter and marine scenes with the bits of colored silk cloth. The program closed with the colorful setting "The Home Beautiful" where many tiny flags and flowers were produced from megaphones and placed around the stage setting. A large silk American flag procured from some place, not quite clear to the spectators, formed the climax.

It is the general opinion the Duval Bros. are a clever duo with ability to take old forms in new dress and make 'em go.

A penny lunch and a cake walk were two of the special features for fun making. Mrs. Merle Brown won the cake and donated it to the tent for auction and it sold for a dollar which was a gift of $2.00 was received from a friend for this fund. A general good time was had and a neat sum realized.

Winter Carnival Considered

The Norway Board of Trade have a winter carnival under consideration. This would comprise all winter sports as skating, ski jumping, horse racing on the ice and the like, with attractive prizes offered to winners. Everything is in the air but a committee was chosen to investigate the feasibility of putting across this project.

This matter was discussed at the December meeting of the Board at Legion Hall, Friday evening, President B. G. McIntire presiding. Directors of the Paris Loan and Building Association attended as guests and the housing problem taken up. The vote was carried for Norway investors to join the Paris Association and form a strong combination with sufficient capital to solve in a measure the stringent housing conditions in both villages.

Fast Basketball in Sight

A semi-pro basketball quintet for Norway is in the making with Bob McCready manager; Clayton "Pidie" Purrington, captain, and Earl Farnham of South Paris, the coach.

Manager McCready is in communication with the Rumford Semi-Pros. for a game at Norway Opera House, Wednesday evening, Dec. 20. At any rate some fast outfit will appear here on that date if arrangements can be made.

The boys mean business and will stage regular cave-men stuff during the winter if the gate receipts and voluntary contributions cover expenses. Funds will not be solicited and no begging allowed.

This sport is offered, according to several prominent promoters not for profit, but for recreation with a thrill. Dates will not conflict with the high school schedule.

Refreshments were served at intermission and the evening was enjoyed by all.

DIXFIELD

Mrs. Harriet M. Peabody

The funeral of Mrs. Harriet M. Peabody was held Monday at 12:30 P. M. at the home of her brother, J. M. Holland where her death occurred Saturday afternoon after an illness of several weeks. Rev. R. E. Gilkey officiated.

Mrs. Peabody was born at Canton Point, Sept. 12, 1841, the daughter of C. Park and Harriet Holland, where her girlhood was spent. In 1869 she was united in marriage with Philo Peabody whose death occurred in 1879. Mrs. Peabody is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Zel-la P. Dyer of Berkeley, Calif., a grandson, Otis Dyer of California, a grand-daughter, Dorothy Dyer of New York City, who is studying for the ministry, a brother, J. M. Holland of Dixfield, a niece, Minnie Holland, Dixfield post mistress, a nephew John Holland of Rum-ford, and several cousins.

Mrs. Peabody was a remarkable woman in many ways, always interested in the betterment of humanity. She was the founder of the Peabody Home for Crippled Children which was built at Oak Hill, Newton, Mass., at a cost of $300,000 and was dedicated June 14 of the present year. Mrs. Peabody was made honorary president at its dedication, and seated on the platform with the distinguished speakers, Gov. Cox of Massachusetts being among the number. In connection with this work, Mrs. Peabody was deeply interested in the Navajo Indians which is now one of the largest tribes in existence. Traveling extensively throughout the United States, while on one of her trips to California, she visited the Navajo reservation in Arizona, and noting the Indian conditions, she at once became interested in them and made frequent trips there. The nearest railway station is Kayenta in the northern part of the state. A first she was obliged to go by wagon and on horse back to the reservation, a distance of 150 miles. In recent years she made the trip by automobile. Mrs. Peabody often remarked that her greatest effort was to aid them in being industrious, and to encourage them, she herded their famous Navajo blankets from the Pacific to the Atlantic coast which was the means of their selling many. Fairs were held at the suggestion of Mrs. Peabody, and every encouragement given them to produce something which keeps them from idleness.

Schools have been started and their condition is greatly aided by the interest and kindly aid of angels of mercy like Mrs. Peabody. The total number of Indians on this reservation which extends up into Utah, is said to be 24,000. The funeral service was in charge of undertaker H. B. Marsh, who, with Mrs. J. M. Holland accompanied the remains to Boston on the Tuesday morning train where, by the request of Mrs. Peabody, her body will be cremated. The floral tributes were very beautiful and expressive of the love and esteem in which she was held by her relatives and friends. The relatives from out of town who were present at the service were Mrs. Fred E. Bowe, Auburn; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Arnold, Rumford; Hon. and Mrs. John P. Swasey, Canton.

TRIP TO FLORIDA

The Land of Perpetual Youth, So-Called

A party of four, Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Marr, and Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Sheld started from No. Bridgton, Maine, Nov. 29th for Vero, Florida. They left North Bridgton at 5:40 a. m. arriving in Portland at 8 a. m., leaving for Boston at noon, reaching there about 4 p. m. A three hours wait before taking the train for Washington D. C. They rode all night from 7 p. m. until 5 a. m. we reached Baltimore, Maryland, at 9 a. m. we were in Washington, D. C. a beautiful and clean city. We spent the day sight seeing and one night in Hotel Harris with its fine accommodations and ate our Thanksgiving dinner there. It was an elegant dinner and very much enjoyed after our long ride.

We left Washington at 9:30 a. m., saw lovely Fredericksburg with its clustered spires, greenwalled by the hills of Maryland. Fine farming country, Peaches, Pears and all kinds of fruit in Maryland. Corn and Hops, Celery and Cabbages grow everywhere. Doves of hogs of all breeds. The corn is always planted on stock in a place. Castor oil beans grow thickly. Corn not husked in many places; stacks of peanuts. Trees were and pine cedar differing from ours. Beautiful kinds of oak trees. Beautiful roads like velvet, only when it rains, the clay rolls up on the wheels badly. A wonderful and beautiful country. Virginia with its large tobacco fields, cotton and corn fields side by side with large piles of corn on the ground; peanut groves, peanuts in monster stacks doves of hogs and large flocks of poultry of many kinds. Saw one "Red Feather farm"; large flocks of fine birds the best we have ever seen, celery and cabbage fields, live oak and water oak, cedar, southern pines. Diamond Swamp, N. Carolina and S. Carolina about the same way and ground.

We rode all night through South Carolina and Georgia, not seeing much country. On our return trip we shall travel these states by daylight, to see what we did not see on our first trip. To be sure, we saw a lot of things, but we did not see all of them. We saw a lot of things, but we did not see all of them. We saw a lot of things, but we did not see all of them.

TRIP FROM COLORADO

Sidney W. Sanborn's Log of His Run
From Colorado Springs in a Big Four Chevrolet

So many people have asked about Sidney Sanborn's trip to Colorado Springs that I am going to give his account of it in the Advertiser. Loren and Sid left Stow, Thursday, October 12, 1922 at 9
A. M., stopped that night in Hill, N. H. at 4 P. M. 37 miles; left at 9 the next morning and stopped at Gileau, N. H. 39 miles, left Gileau at 8 the next morning and hit Cheshire, Mass., at 6 P. M., 92 miles; left Cheshire at 8 the next morning, hit Herkimer, N. Y. about 5 P. M., left there about 7 the next morning. I don't remember just where we stopped that night, somewhere in New York. We hit Buffalo, Syracuse, Utica, went through the corner of Pennsylvania and hit through Cleveland and Toledo, Ohio, we hit Goshen, Indiana, Elkhart and South Bend, Ind., then we hit Chicago, Ill., and Aurora, then to Clinton Iowa, and Cedar Rapids and Des Moines, we crossed the Mississippi River at Clinton, Iowa. We went from Des Moines to Council Bluffs, crossed the Missouri river between Council Bluffs and Omaha, Nebraska. We began to look for W. J.
Bryan along there, but we didn't see him anywhere.

The roads were good up until we got to Omaha, then we began to strike sandy and rough roads as far as the Colorado line. Then they were good gravel roads as far as Denver, Colorado, but the roads were good all through Colorado. From Denver we went south 62 miles to Colorado Springs, then west 7 miles to Maniton, Colorado, there we stopped and went hunting for bungalows and found one we hired of Mrs. Laycock, whose husband was a Civil War veteran from Wisconsin.
This bungalow was right near Pike's Peak. We were up 7,000 ft. in this place, the air was fine only it dried my lips up so they would peel. I didn't notice the elevation only when I was climbing or on a hike, then had to pull in more air, there did not seem to be so much air or it seemed thinner.

We stayed here for a week, felt fine.
I gained 10 lbs., Loren gained 8 since leaving home.

This takes me up to Saturday, Nov.
4th at 10:30 A. M., when Loren got up and went to the stove. I saw blood running out of his mouth, I ran up to the next house, about 20 ft. away and told them to telephone for a doctor. The doctor got there in two or three minutes but Loren was unconscious and didn't live more than a minute after the doctor got there. I got Spran & Sons, undertakers at Colorado Springs, to do what was necessary and telegraphed the news home Monday. I shipped the body home by express and went and found out how much it would cost to ship the auto and it would cost five hundred dollars so I decided to run it home. I started at 1 P.
M. and out about six or seven miles east of Colorado Springs I began to hit snow and after two or three miles it was a foot deep on the edges. It was blown off and in the hollows it was above the top of the car where they had shoveled through it. I made 85 miles that afternoon and stopped in Limon, Colorado at 6 P. M.

I stopped at a hotel in Limon and met R. M. Coldwell of Kansas City, Mo., who traveled with me as far as Topeka, Kan.
We left Limon at 6 A. M. and out about ten miles I left the snow and at 6 P. M.
I pulled into Grainfield, Kansas. 212 miles, pulled out at 6 the next morning and stopped at Topeka, Kan., at 7 P. M., 311 miles, got away the next morning at about 7 and went up through Atchison, Kan., and crossed the Missouri river just before I got to St. Joseph, Mo., east from St. Joseph I stopped in McLeod, Missouri
206 miles, 6 P. M.

I pulled out about 6 next day and crossed the Mississippi on the toll bridge at Hannibal, Mo., toll 50c, I went to Jacksonville, Ill., got something to eat, then went west to Springfield, Ill. At 9 P. M. ran the car into a corn field crawled over the back seat and went to sleep. 216 miles. About 5 the next morning I pulled out of the corn field, drove through Springfield, about daylight here I began to strike the worst roads on the whole trip.

Just after I left Springfield it began to rain and kept it up all day and I struck a black muck road and some of it had just been oiled and cars would slide right off sideways the front end would switch worse than the rear end.
I stopped in Chrisman, Ill. 7 P. M., only 135 miles today. Got away about 7 next day, still raining. I hit Indianapolis, Ind., I crossed the Wabash river just before I got to Indianapolis. I hit Dayton Ohio and Springfield, Ohio, got my supper in Springfield, Ohio then I started again drove through Columbus, O. and at 11 P. M. I drove out into a man's corn pasture, crawled over back of the seat and went to sleep. 30 miles today, still rain.
I got out of that pasture about 6 A. M.
and drove through Wheeling, West Va.
about 5 P. M. and hit into Pennsylvania and got something to eat in a little town in the Allegheny mountains about 6 P. M.
Then I drove to the top of the mountains got there at 10 P. M., still raining. I drove into the ditch, went to bed in the back seat, 204 miles today. I slept in Maryland, got breakfast in Maryland;
only time I hit this state.

I swung back into Pennsylvania—the state line was straight but the road was not, that's how I hit Maryland. I woke up about 6 the next morning, as I have said, I got breakfast in Maryland, then drove to Allentown, Penn., still raining, and drove out into a man's cornfield, just before I hit the town at 9 A. M. and sought my couch of repose in the hind seat, 250 miles today. I started out about 6 A. M. still raining, I drove through Newark, N. J., ferried across the Hudson river to New York City. Cost 35c. to ferry car over. I hit Port Chester, N. Y. about 7 P. M., got a bite to eat had a sleight collision in Port Chester which kept me there two days to get car fixed. I made 136 miles this day, still raining. The next two days were idle ones in Port Chester, then I went through New Haven and Hartford, Connecticut, to Springfield, Mass., and Holyoke, Mass. to Greenfield, Mass. then to Bartleboro, Vt. then Keene, N. H. Got a bite to eat in Keene, then just before I got to Newport, N. H. I went out into a field and went to sleep, 9 P. M., 227 miles today.

I started out about 6 A. M., went to Franklin, N. H. and up by Lake Winhe-pessaukee to Meredith and West Ossippee, Conway and Stow. I got here at 4 P. M. I made 150 miles and a few calls on people that I knew. I might have got home earlier if it hadn't been for the calls. I used 125 gallons of gas and 3 quarts of oil coming home. Didn't have one bit of trouble with the car all the way out and back. We picked up a

MILLIONS NOW STARVING, WHY?

Judge O. A. Towne of Franklin, N. H. writes some good things for his people under the title of the Rambler and we copy the following:

"Did you ever think that many people in this enlightened land of ours are near starving? Oh, you say, I suppose there are some in the large cities who do not have enough to eat, but they would be cared for if they would make their wants known. But the Rambler does not mean those who are too poor or too unfortunate to enable them to have plenty of food. He means some in good homes where good food is plentiful, yes in some luxurious homes where there is more food than can be eaten. Some years ago a statement was made that folks in a certain place actually starved although they had plenty of beans and corn meal. Perhaps not quite to death, but they had the real appearance of starving people. And those who saw Alice in Hungerland know how starving people actually look."

What the Rambler is getting at is the fact that certain foods which are very nourishing to some people are not at all what others need. We sometimes hear parents say of a child, "That food is good enough for me and I guess it will do for you." Yes, and some parents go as far as to compel a child to eat food which goes strongly against his appetite and stomach. Some years ago the Rambler knew of a young man who could not eat cheese. He said he could not and if he did it always made him sick. Since that time he has known others but this one is the one to talk about now. The parents of this young man were strong with good digestion so that they could eat about anything that was eatable. They believed that John was pretending, that he could eat cheese as well as any other person. They hectorated him until to satisfy them he ate a small piece. After which he was sick. Then the parents were not convinced, but said that it was because he was forced to eat cheese and not the article itself that made the boy sick. And so the mother prepared a new dish, fixed it up attractively, it tasted all right and John ate a serving with apparent relish. Then he was sick, so much so that the doctor was called. The physician said the boy had been poisoned and demanded to know what he had been eating. The food was shown and the recipe given.

"Is there anything there that the boy does not ordinarily eat?" asked the doctor. When told that cheese was never willingly eaten by the boy the doctor had his answer. He gave the parents a lecture and the story became known in the whole town.
There are children and some older people who are seen in every town or city who are apparently very much undernourished. When the Rambler meets these he wonders what they are eating that they do not like. Some mothers prepare food that is easiest to cook and serve without giving thought to whether or not the family is getting proper nourishment. Some who are obliged to board away from home dread certain days in the week when they know that some food is coming which they very much dislike. For some years the Rambler boarded in a family where the chief meal of the day was fish, oysters, clams or quahogs. He became so tired of this food that it was before he would have it in his house. Other people have other likes and dislikes. Some would starve, or grow very poor in flesh on cereals, while others thrive on these foods. The Rambler knows some who cannot eat milk. Once when he was guardian for a woman who was not quite in her right mind he found that she would eat only bread and milk. This she had three times a day, and no persuasion could induce her to eat any other food. The Rambler went to a physician about it, and was told, "That is almost a perfect food. She will live a long time on that." And she did. But in another case the woman could not take milk. She did not like the taste, it did not digest ready and she simply had to have other foods.

The Rambler is writing this creed in the interests of some children, some older and some younger with the hope that the parents of these children will look care-fully at the child's body and see if it is fully developing, if the child is rugged, healthy, cheerful and happy. A food which may be all right for father, mother and all the rest of the family may not at all fit the needs of your boy or girl. You know it is good food, just what you like to eat and always have eaten, and you are strong and healthy. That may be true, but for all of that it may not be what your child needs, and it is up to you to find out about it. This does not mean that the child is always a good judge of what it is best to eat. The child may desire food that pleases the taste, and not know anything about the nourishment. Many children have perverted taste, acquired by being given too much candy, nuts, ice cream cones, etc. If you cannot solve the case take the child to the family physician, have a good long talk and then follow the doctor's advice."

The Surety of Purity

There are no miracles in cooking. What goes into the food must inevitably come out.

Even the baking perfection that results from the use of Royal Baking Powder is no miracle.

It is simply the result of absolute purity entering the food—and emerging again.

Royal is made from Cream of Tartar derived from grapes.

WHAT'S THE USE TO FRET AND WORRY?

Some say that worry killed a cat. I guess that they were right. For some are bound to fret and fume. When everything looks bright. They growl about their income tax. And yank their hair and whine. And say: "You ought to thank your stars. Your tax ain't large as mine. To hear them moan and sob and groan, 'Is sorrowful to see. I haven't any income tax— So that don't worry me. And some will fret and worry 'Bout the price of gasoline. And every time it takes a jump. They think John D. is mean. And when their car begins to knock, Or tires start to fray, They rave because there's just another awful bill to pay. And when they groan, I'll have to own, They have my sympathy. I can't afford a car, and so Their bills don't worry me. And others are so gloomy 'Bout how they'll get a living. Can't have their meat but twice a day, Nor turkey 'till Thanksgiving. And: 'Fuel, where's our fuel?' I heard one fellow wheeze. (He's so hot beneath the collar, I guess that he won't freeze). Of all the ways come tumbling through, I'll go and cut a tree. We've weathered every winter yet— And if you don't worry me, And some will come to me, and they Will pity me and sigh. They say: 'Now, if I had your family, I'd surely die.' 'You're far too many children for A man in your position. You surely all will starve if you 'Should have a new addition.' But there are only eight of us, All healthy as can be. If neighbors worry, that's enough, Won't let it worry me. What's the use to fret and worry. 'Snow and pucker up your brow, Clouds are always bound to gather. 'Fretting help! Just show me how! And if you stomp around, or sulky, Young fellow, I'll tell you: You won't reflect much sunshine When the rays come tumbling through. Cheer up, and you will see how nice The change will seem to be. But if you don't like my advice, Why that won't worry me. —O. R. MILLIS, Fryeburg.

THE OLD PREACHER

All his life In kindly, gentle ways He kindly, gentle ways To mend mankind: Preached mercy, And the poor Gave off the welcome hand To passing strangers, And his daily course Comforted Sad lives, By his own grew gray And his thin voice Reached out to the middle Of the church. His congregation Generously Gave him The key to the street! DON C. SEITZ.

HELPING HAND

The story of a young girl who had gone "a kening wrang"—and it is a sad story, daily repeated in the press—recalls a picture which a few years ago, attracted much attention in the East.

Just below a "straight and narrow path," within easy reach of the passing throng of straight-laced average people, was portrayed a young girl, her face buried in her hands, her posture eloquent of despair.

At her feet yawned a chasm; the merest touch would send her to destruction in the depths. A kindly hand might save her.

But the smug-faced and conventional multitude goes hurrying by. They turn their heads away from her. None reaches to lift her from her imminent danger. Just one kindly hand would be enough to lift her again to the "straight and narrow way." But the multitudes pass on!

The wayfarers on the straight and narrow way of conventional respectability are not touched by the despairing face turned up to them. She has sinned; let her go!

Of what value are all our preachings and prayers and agonizings with reference to so-called sin when such things can be?

But, though the artist did not exalt his art and reconcile us to the complexities and contradictions of life by tangible portrayal of the fact, the helping hands were there, many of them, in that passing, seemingly careless and callous multitude.

Annually thousands of, clingers to the precepts of doom are saved by the helping hands of those who practice the religion of service; by the devoted men and women of the churches, the charitable organizations, by individuals who have realized that through love and service the soul's highest garden may be won.

Radio Column

EDITED BY DICK CHASE

As a usual thing enough care is not taken in erecting the aerial, some just run a piece of wire around the room, get some results and call it good enough.

For receiving the most common type of aerial is the inverted L, flat top or single wire. Good results may be obtained with a single wire, but I have found that with two or more wires in parallel still better results are obtained. In erecting an aerial the first thing to do is to choose the site, if possible, have the free end pointing North or Northeast, this does not make any great difference, but helps out in the end. Have your aerial as high as possible up to sixty feet, at higher levels not so good results are obtained, the signals will be louder, but interference can be turned out less easily.

The length of the aerial and ground systems are an important factor, the combined length of aerial, lead in, and ground lead should be less than 140 feet. Good insulation should be used, these should be composed of electrose or some similar substance, porcelain is very liable to break.

In putting up a flat top of more than one wire, space the wires two feet or more apart with spreaders. Insulation may either be put on every wire at each end or they may be put in the V on each side of the center. In the V of a two wire the former method is best, while in aerials containing more wires the latter method will save insulation.

In bringing wires off for the lead in a lead should be taken off each wire in the aerial and brought down about five feet where they are bunched into a rat-tail and continued to the lightning switch or arrester.

The ground connection is also a very important factor. A sure, good ground is a water pipe which water is running or standing in. An empty water pipe or a steam pipe is very uncertain as the joint may have rusted and serve to insulate it from the ground. I have known several people to ground on a lightning rod ground, this is also a poor practice as most lightning rod grounds are very poor, this is one reason why lightning rods are sometimes ineffective. For the aerial and also for connecting the ground I would suggest that 7 strand No. 22 B. and S. gauge tinned copper wire be used, this gives more mechanical strength also more surface, which is essential in receiving. This wire is very easy to solder and every joint should be soldered.

Radio Notes

The A R R L Trans-Atlantic tests are now in progress. It will be interesting to see how many stations in different parts of the country get across. Reports will probably be in all newspapers and will be published in this column at the end of the tests. These tests show what progress has been made by the "amateur" in the past year.

Several people have reported hearing a Cuban broadcasting station. If you hear a station signing with the index letter P, it is probably a Cuban station. Combinations beginning with P are allotted to several other countries also.

Edward Townsend has completed the construction of his new Renaitz tuner and it will be in operation shortly. A novel feature in his set is that he has used Aluminum, which is a conductor of electricity, in place of the conventional Bakelite, which is a perfect insulator for the panel. Binding posts, switch points, etc., are mounted on Bakelite, this construction has entirely obviated the capacity effects which are very noticeable in the Renaitz set. No detrimental effect has been noticed so far.

Radio 1KX is now an official relay station. We wish you would send in a Radiogram for relaying, so far no one has from the notice published in this column. This costs you nothing, try it and see what the "Amateur" can do. Radiogram accepted for U. S. Porto Rico, Canada and Hawaii. Address, Radio 1KX, West Baldwin, Me. The ARRL hopes that the "novices" will overlook any interference from "Amateurs" through the Trans-Atlantic tests. These tests come only once a year, so the inconvenience cannot be very great. "Answer that Christmas card by Radio."

ALBANY

Mrs. A. G. Bean who went to Lewiston to spend the winter with her son Herbert Bean was taken ill. She was advised to go to the Hospital at once so Tues. she went to the C. M. G. Hospital to be operated on.

Not half as many deer brought in this fall as usual. The bobcats are thinning out the deer badly, also doing three times as much damage killing sheep as the bears ever did. There ought to be a fair bounty on hedgehogs. They are doing a large amount of damage to the forest trees and apple trees. They destroy a large part of the sweet apples throughout the state. They are injurious to all domestic animals they can rub against. Many a farmer has to get up his sheep and cattle and spend part of a day pulling out the quills from the sheep's heads. It is hoped the representatives of Oxford County will look after this bounty at Augusta next winter.

The election of officers at Round Mountain Grange was as follows:

Master—W. I. Beckler.
Overseer—Ozell Kimball.
Lecturer—Mrs. Dora Beckler.
Steward—Leon Kimball.
Assistant Steward—Charles Morey.
Chaplain—Mrs. A. A. Brace.
Treasurer—George Cummings.
Secretary—Allen Cummings.
Gate Keeper—Isaac Wardwell.
Ceres—Mrs. Ella Cummings.
Pomona—Mrs. James Kimball.
Flora—Mrs. Cecil Kimball.
Lady Assistant Steward—Helen Beckler.

A DAILY NEWSPAPER CALENDAR

An early calendar for 1923 reaches us. It is from the office of the Daily Journal-Press of St. Cloud, Minn. The paper is credited with having 4000 subscribers and is issued every afternoon except Sunday and republican in politics.

It is controlled and edited by Alvah Beaman, who was born in Lovell, Me., and learned the printer's trade in the office of the Oxford Democrat and moved West to grow up with the country which he has succeeded in doing, even beyond the expectations of his early ambition.

Allie Noble, Reg. and Rollie Dinsmore recently returned from a few days' hunt bringing three deer. Allie was the lucky one and got two, 10 and 11 point bucks, inside of a few hours.

Fred H. Cobb, Harris Hill, Poland, has several horses and harnesses for sale. Read his ad in this paper.

BOOK OF WHO'S WHO IN MAINE MUSIC

What promises to be a book of the greatest interest to Maine people and to music lovers everywhere in America, is the forthcoming volume from the pen of George Thornton Edwards, "Music and Musicians of Maine," to be issued in the Spring of 1923. All Maine people know that Annie Louise Carey and Lillian Nordica were born in Maine, but all do not know that Annie Louise Carey was acclaimed the greatest contralto the world ever knew or that Nordica was declared to be the greatest American interpreter of Wagnerian roles. Nor are many aware that in Portland was born a musician when it was pronounced by Theodore Thomas to be the greatest American composer, or that in South Paris were born two great singers, one who for a number of years was a prima donna was heralded in Holland as a "Who's Who in Maine Music." Mr. Edwards has been gathering material for this volume for more than five years and is having the assistance of librarians and secretaries of historical societies as well as old musicians in all parts of the state in collecting information of value for the historical section of the book. More than a hundred rare and interesting photographs of old Maine musicians which the author has been several years in accumulating will be reproduced in the volume.

AMERICAN WALNUT

Walnut, for hundreds of years in Europe and America, has been the cabinet wood used by most famous furniture makers and has occupied a prominent place in the finest homes. Walnut is a real "heirloom" wood. Its remarkable qualities have preserved for us the fine furniture of the past and will make the furniture of today the treasures of a future generation. Its resale value is always good. Old walnut furniture is prized by collectors.

Walnut has a beautiful natural brown color that is deep, warm and living. The color is in the wood and not on the wood, hence, dents and scratches do not show up another color to spoil the effect. Walnut has, as no other wood, an endless variety of figures. The plain wood has a quiet dignity, the stripe and roll figures are distinctive, the mottles, ripple marks and matched figures are strikingly beautiful, and each piece has a truly individual pattern of beauty.

Walnut always takes a fine finish. An eggshell varnish finish shows the grain to the best advantage. The waxed dull finish is the most serviceable. Housewives know that walnut is the easiest wood to keep bright and clean. Walnut that has been stained very dark should be avoided, as it covers up the natural beauty of the wood and makes detection of substitutes more difficult. Walnut is strong. Comparative strength tests by the United States Government show its superior qualities. Walnut is exclusive. It is used for gunstocks, and ranks first in tests for aeroplane propellers. Walnut, because of its close, even grain, is easily worked into the most artistic designs that the master furniture builders have produced. It is accepted wood for carved furniture as well as for the lighter construction where the beauty of the walnut figure itself provides the decoration.

Good furniture has always been made of walnut. It is the supreme cabinet wood of the ages—and today.

OUR OWN ATMOSPHERE MAKES STARS TWINKLE

Stars do not really twinkle. They are immensely distant suns, and the light goes out from them as evenly and as steadily as light goes out from the sun that shines on the world and the other planets of our small system. The light of these distant suns which we call stars does reach us in a twinkling, and it is the twinkling of the light that we see, but the fault, if it is a fault, is due to the atmosphere which surrounds the little orb on which we live.

Far down or near the horizon the twinkling of a star is most perceptible and at or near the zenith, which is that part of the sky directly overhead, the twinkling is much less pronounced and often imperceptible. It is the atmosphere, with its power or its habit of refracting light waves, which makes the stars appear to twinkle. The degree of perceptibility of the twinkling of a star varies with the condition of the air through which the light waves pass. An astronomer explains it this way:

"The twinkling of a star is produced by the variable refraction of its light by air or uneven density, and by the interference of rays or light from the star following slightly different paths. As the result of this irregular refraction we see the light of the star concentrated continually at slightly different points—that is the star 'twinkles' and through interference of light rays one color is temporarily obliterated and another intensified."

"For instance, the green rays may be blotted out for the moment and the red ray strengthened, so that the quality of the light received from the star varies continually to a slight degree. A star near the horizon where refraction effects are greatest, owing to the highly variable density and unsteadiness of the air close to the surface of the earth, twinkles continually and often flashes light of different colors."

A telescope intensifies the apparent twinkling of a star and this flashing is very much more troublesome to observers on some nights than on others.

NORTH DAKOTA GAME LAWS

It costs something more than car fare to hunt in North Dakota. A non-resident pays $25.00 and the open season for chickens is only 30 days, Sept. 16 to Oct. 17th and only five can be killed, even if combined with grouse, turtle doves and plovers. One lone deer only can be shot during open season.

A reward from $10 to $25 is paid by the board of evidence for securing evidence of conviction for violation of the game laws. The evidence so given will be treated confidential when so desired. Owing to the strictness of the laws, Shorkey Cook has ceased teasing Mel Sampson to go to North Dakota hunting.

INSURE YOUR MILK WITH PLENTY OF ICE

As the cold weather approaches, dairymen are making plans for the harvesting and storing of their ice crop. Thousands of dollars are lost annually because of failure to have a sufficient supply of ice on hand during the warmer months. The losses occur because the milk of cream is returned to the farmers or is manufactured into poorer grade of manufactured products which means lower prices. In the past twenty years sickness has decreased rapidly in the adult population, but in the infant or child. To the of Wagerian roles. Nor are many aware that in Portland was born a musician when it was pronounced by Theodore Thomas to be the greatest American composer, or that in South Paris were born two great singers, one who for a number of years was a prima donna was heralded in Holland as a "Who's Who in Maine Music." Mr. Edwards has been gathering material for this volume for more than five years and is having the assistance of librarians and secretaries of historical societies as well as old musicians in all parts of the state in collecting information of value for the historical section of the book. More than a hundred rare and interesting photographs of old Maine musicians which the author has been several years in accumulating will be reproduced in the volume.

A popular method of cooling milk is by the use of a spring or of a tank of water in which ice is kept. Spring water is seldom as cold as it is thought to be and springs that are said to be as cold as ice, frequently have a temperature as high as 65 degrees Fahrenheit. An accurate thermometer is essential, therefore, to determine the temperature of the water for cooling milk. Considerable bacteria, however, develops before milk becomes thoroughly cooled by this method. An improvement over this is by the use of a cooler in which ice is kept and over which milk flows. The fact that pre cooling with a surface cooler is not practical and that ice is not put into a cooling tank until after the milk is put there, the shipping station or the consumer in summer, soon savors.

To cool milk by use of the pre cooler and the tank will require about four tons of ice per cow, allowing for shrinkage.

EDUCATION A VALUABLE ASSET

Money for education has not come very easily. While large sums have been spent for education, yet an enormous element of people of alien descent do not know our language. When it came to providing adequate facilities to Americanize the foreign born adults who know little English, the American taxpayer always groaned and said "We should worry."

Now as a result in part of his own indifference, he is worrying in earnest. The present trouble in the coal mines, as one illustration, could be handled far better if the people we dealt with were thoroughly Americanized.

From 60 to 80 per cent., it is estimated, of these miners are men of foreign birth, born in a foreign language. The vast majority of them cannot probably read any newspaper printed in English. They must get their ideas to a large extent from foreign language papers, many of which are not in harmony with American ideas. Agitators who acquired the polisher point of view under tyrannical governments would get a grip on such people.

A mass of non-Americanized people like that is difficult to get at. If they have grievances, they find difficulty in expressing them. They go along year after year in sullen silence, unable to impress their complaints on their fellow countrymen. There is the spirit of revolt flares up, and it is likely to go on to dangerous extremes, and it is almost impossible to meet them in any friendly way.

The great need of the country is unity and co-operation. This spirit cannot be had while a vast mass of the people are separated by the barriers of language. If every workingman could read our American newspapers, the business of many agitators would be gone, and real grievances would be more speedily redressed.—Houlton Times.

WASTED TALENT

High ranking students do not always win success in life, and many people ask why. Some go so far as to claim that the liberal education is of little practical use, and they would have most young people go to work early. That is not exactly an enlightened point of view, but most people can name friends among talents, but have never been able to use them to advantage. The community suffers from all this loss of power, and it is a big question how such persons can realize their possibilities.

Many people fail as the result of too much versatility. They are jacks of all trades, who can do many things fairly well, but are superior at nothing. The tendency of such ones is to get discouraged if they do not at once obtain great results. They fail to realize that a long period of training is necessary to gain a position in any line of work. They have to grow into the spirit of it through years of experience until it becomes second nature to them.

But just as they are beginning to get the feel of the thing so they really grow it, they strike off in some new line and forfeit all the progress they have made. It takes intense concentration of thought for a long period to win superior results. The fellow who is putting a large portion of his thought into sports, society and diversions and side issues, can not get that intense absorption in his work that is necessary to win attainment.

Quick thought, an alert mind, and broad intelligence, are gifts frequently possessed by these talented people, but the plugging habit is necessary to go with them. The slow moulded fellow who digs persistently frequently overtakes the man of genius who can't concentrate his mind on one end for very long, and who fritters away his efforts in too many lines.

Catarrhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. Catarrhal Deafness requires constitutional treatment. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE is a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the ear. When this tube is inflamed, it has a running sound or hummed sound, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is reduced. Unless the inflammation can be reduced, your hearing may be destroyed forever. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE acts through the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system, thus reducing inflammation and restoring normal conditions.

MAN GIVES WIFE

GLYCERINE MIXTURE

She had stomach trouble for years. After giving her simple buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., as mixed in Adler-ka, her husband says: "My wife feels fine now and has gained weight. It is wonderful stomach medicine." Adler-ka acts on BOTH upper and lower bowel, removing foul matter which poisoned stomach and which you never thought was in your system. EXCELLENT for gas on the stomach or chronic constipation. Guards against appendicitis. The impurities it brings out will surprise you. Frank Kimball, Druggist.

HARRISON

Davis-Sias

Bert Morrill Davis of this town and Orpha C. Sias of Turner Center were united in marriage on Thanksgiving day at the home of the bride.

The ceremony was performed at high noon by the bride's father, Rev. Mr. Sias in the presence of a few relatives and intimate friends. The bride looked very charming in a dress of white organza and carried bride's roses. She was attended by her two sisters, Margaret and Amy Sias and the groom's sister, Pearl Davis of Harrison. Clyde Hamlin was best man. Little George Sias was ring bearer and Florence Sias flower girl.

In the evening from 7 to 9 a reception was held which was attended by many friends of both parties. After a short honeymoon Mr. and Mrs. Davis will reside in Harrison where he has a business. These young people have many friends in this vicinity who are showering them with congratulations and good wishes.

Mr. Randall's left wrist was broken and Mrs. Spaulding's nose was broken. Fortunately nothing more serious resulted.

The car is somewhat injured.

This is an unusually entertaining and instructive picture dealing with one of the most essential and important questions of the modern farmer, running water. How it is obtained under pressure and the proper method of installation. After the picture there was a general discussion and an engineer was present to answer questions that arose regarding this modern sanitary necessity. There was also one of the regular stock outfits on the floor in running condition used as a demonstrator.

Mrs. Leon Whitman is ill.

LONG EVENINGS

The long evenings of late fall and winter have never been popular. Housewives dislike them because they interfere with sewing and other tasks for which daylight is preferable. The young crowd are sorry to see the sun quit early and darken the football field. The men folk regret to see their automobile runs out short, and those who manage business find that the day is never so efficiently done by artificial light.

Families do not gather under the evening lamp at this season as they used to. For many of the modern folks, the long evenings are simply the time when the social season reaches its height, and there is something doing every night.

They get what they are looking for. Others find that the long evenings furnish new opportunities for study and self improvement. Each winter brings them some increase of knowledge by broader intelligence in their own occupation. Time is a form of capital and it should be used thoughtfully.

CHANGED TRAFFIC RULES

December 1st should see the end of accidents on the highways in the vicinity of the border of the State of Maine and Province of New Brunswick as a result of misunderstandings regarding the rule of the road. In the future New Brunswick will be in line with the United States and all the rest of the provinces of Canada to its west and will "turn to the right."

Ever since the settlers arrived traffic in New Brunswick has followed the Old Country Rule of passing to the left. The tremendous growth of automobile traffic made the change inevitable. Something had to be done in the interests of public safety and New Brunswick has taken the lead of the three Maritime Provinces in its decision to adopt "turn to the right."

In 1920 an Act was passed by the Provincial Legislature authorizing a change in the "rule of the road" and it was hoped that united action could be taken by the province of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia to have the change become effective simultaneously. When the Nova Scotia Legislature finally passed an Act authorizing the change at its last session, a proclamation was issued naming December 1st, 1922 as the date for the change to be effective in New Brunswick.

Nova Scotia's Act was disallowed but New Brunswick, having announced the change to be effective in the province decided to proceed with carrying out its intention.

The date was chosen for the change in New Brunswick because traffic is usually at its lowest ebb on the highway and because it was deemed advisable not to make a break in the winter season which would necessitate sleds and sleighs temporarily laid up to have the "shift" changed for use on country roads.

Street cars, traffic signs and "silent policemen" are being changed to conform to "turn to the right," while every conceivable means is being used by the Department of Public Works to remind the residents of the change.

BOY SCOUT NOTES.

Bethel Boy Scouts Go On Hike to Scout Cabin

Troop No. 1, Bethel turned out strong Saturday for the hike to the Scout Cabin. Twelve scouts accompanied by Asst. Scoutmaster Chester B. Oliver and Executive Perham kept the air full of spirit for the entire day.

Progressive scoutcraft was the feature of the day. Everyone was out for business first and fun as you go. Out door cooking began immediately upon arrival at camp. Scouts Haselton, Holmes, Stanley, Thurston, and Clark passed different tests on First Class work. Scouts Kidder and Sessions passed Second Class tests in Tracking. Roy Jones, highest ranked scout in Bethel, assisted leaders Oliver and Perham in examination of different scouts.

After dinner the entire troop "turned to" for a "Woods of Maine Hunt." Specimens of all the mercantile woods of Maine were gathered and tied in bundles convenient for carrying home. The troop plans to place these woods on exhibit in some store window at a later date. Following this came a Hare and Hound race in which every one took part. There were rabbits in the trees and on the ground, neither had wings.

In preparation for the return trip home all the knapsacks were packed, the camp swept, and final ceremony of Scout oath and Laws was carried out. It was decided to give "Bob the stray dog" a vote of thanks for his days attendance at camp. A great time and a great old day was the verdict of all.

Troop No. 1, Bethel held their meeting Thursday night at the American Legion Room. The evening program started promptly at 7:15 with a forty minute period of sports supervised by Scoutmaster Chester B. Oliver and Executive Perham. Under the Stick, Cook Night, Indian Wrestling, Pulling Pins and Pull Him Over. Charles Haselton showed his supremacy in the last event by pulling everyone over including Executive Perham.

After the setting-up Exercises came the recital of the Scout Oath, Laws and Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag of the United States. Local Troop matters were freely discussed and it was decided to drop members not showing active interest and to go out after new recruits. The following scouts make up Bethel's working troop. Roy Jones, Glen Thurston, Kenneth Stanley, Charles Haselton, Freeland Clark, Gerrard Kaines, Edward O'Day, Perley Tripp, Rex Sessions, Donald Kidder, and Taylor Clough. The first eight scouts named were members of the Oxford County Scout Camp and have made exceptionally good advancement this past year.

Edward O'Day presented a splendid Knot Board at the meeting. It was decided that this should be given the finishing touches and put on exhibition the following week. Plans for a hike on Saturday were discussed and a large attendance guaranteed. The scouts were to meet at the R. B. Station and from there travel to the Bethel Scout Cabin two miles out.

Troop No. 1, Rumford Going Strong. Rumford boys in Troop No. 1 claim that growing a bush is easier than stubble very quickly when they pass over it. Under the leadership of Dr. G. Douglas Clark-Scoutmaster, they are making fast progress.

During the last two meetings four scouts have finished their Second Class requirements and received their badges. These four are Robert Seymour, Finn Sorenson, Paul Fuller and G. Henry L. Haselton and G. Murphy received their Tenderfoot badges.

These meetings have laid special emphasis on Scoutcraft. Scouts Seymour, Emigh, Coblenz, Fuller and R. Maynard passed First Class First Aid. L. Sorenson and Ben Irish completed Compass Test, and Finn Sorenson passed the Map Test. Everyone is putting in real work and planning to put Troop No. 1 in an A1 position in Oxford County.

Hugh Henry has completed a First Aid Cabinet for use in the scout room and to be used in the coming Carpentry exhibit. Plans for Banquet and Exhibition are being worked out. A Junior Basketball team has been organized and a Hockey Team will be underway soon.

Troop No. 2, Rumford Organizes. Troop No. 2, Rumford, Maine held its first night of get-together and organization at the Chapel Tuesday night. Preliminary meetings of the men were held on earlier dates with the satisfactory results showing that John Montith is Scoutmaster of Troop No. 2 and Mr. Carl Thurston is his assistant.

As a preliminary send-off, fifteen boys were notified about the meeting. Their answers to the call of scouting was 80% strong, there being present at the meeting twelve out of a possible fifteen. A general discussion of Scouting waxed warm and it was decided to pass the word along to others.

Preliminary registration statistics were passed in by the different candidates and record kept of the meeting. It was decided to have the night of official registration on the following Tuesday, with expectations that Executive Perham will be on hand to give his official greetings.

WHITE PINE BLISTER RUST IN OXFORD COUNTY

In one of his October issues the Editor had an article on the White Pine Blister Rust in New Hampshire. It is not necessary to go to New Hampshire to find Pine Blister Rust as it is present in Oxford County. The town of Norway at its annual Town Meeting appropriated the sum of one hundred dollars to make a survey of the town to see what extent it was present in that town.

About the tenth of September the writer in Company with Arthur Robbins, one of the Selectmen, started out to scout as much of the town as possible in a limited time. We found the pine infection in nineteen different places, the worst infection was found on the land of Bertram L. Moore, Pikes Hill.

We found a large number of wild gooseberries growing among the pine; we also found very near the same condition on adjoining lots owned by Mr. Parsons and E. L. Dupont & Company.

Any place where we found currant or gooseberry bushes within a thousand feet or less, we could find the Pine infected.

We explained to about 100 pine owners the cause of the disease and the method of getting rid of the currant and gooseberry bushes, which is: "To pull the bushes up by the roots (do not cut them off, as that is time thrown away). Hang them up so they will not take root again, (it is not necessary to burn them). If there are no bushes within 1000 feet of the pine, they cannot become infected."

The best time to do this work is in the spring as soon as the bushes are leaved out, also the ground contains more moisture and the roots pull easier.

After completing this work in Norway and finding so much rust, the State Forestry Department cooperating with the U. S. Department of Agriculture, located me in Oxford County to help the towns and pine owners fight this disease.

I have so far scouted in the following towns to some extent:

In Lovell, I found in a very short time that this town is badly infected with the blister rust. A few of the owners names are as follows: O. E. Andrews, J. O. Hamilton, Mrs. Dana Britt, William Farrington, Sumner Kimball, Congressman Dallinger's Estate, Benjamin Russell. On every owners land where we went we found the wild bushes and of course the pine infection.

In Paris on the following owners land we found pine infection: L. L. Russell, Mrs. James S. Wright, Henry Fletcher, Chas. Coffeen, Morris L. Neves, Chapman and Clifford, Stevens and Daniels, I. E. Andrews.

Have also found the blister rust in the towns of Brownfield, Waterford and Sweden, these are all the towns that up to the present I have done any scouting in, but there is no doubt but it is present in every town in Oxford County, and the spread of this disease must be stopped.

The young pines especially are in danger and all pine owners must cooperate. It is just getting started, the oldest infection is not over four years.

I am ready at all times to give all the assistance to pine owners and the officials in locating the disease and teaching the best methods to control it.
